Credit Hours: 3-3-0

Course Title: Programming with C#

Course Prerequisites: CIT 102

ISBN: 9780134382609

Course Description: This course is intended to introduce students to C#.NET, which is an object-oriented, event-driven programming language. It reinforces skills developed in CIT 102. Specific techniques that will be discussed include programming style, graphical user interface design, coding, debugging, and documentation skills.

Learning Outcomes:
At the end of this course, the student will:
A. create applications with C#;
B. write programs using the selection structure and repetition structures;
C. write programs using the void and value-returning methods; and
D. write C# programs connected to databases.

To achieve the learning outcomes, the student will or will be able to:
(The letter designations at the end of each statement refer to the learning outcome(s).)
1. plan and design object-oriented/event driven program (A);
2. identify various windows of Visual C# screen (A);
3. set properties of controls on the interface (A);
4. add text box, label, command controls to a form (A);
5. write if...then...else statement in the code (B);
6. write select case statement in the code (B);
7. write while, do...while, and for statements in the code (B);
8. use files for data storage in the code (B);
9. use void methods (C);
10. use value-returning methods (C);
11. create database using Visual Studio (D); and
12. connect C# application to an existing database (D).

Course Requirements:
1. A student must successfully complete the course with an average of 70% or above on the combined learning outcomes.
2. Each student is expected to attend classes regularly; excessive unexcused absences constitute grounds for suspension (refer to the student handbook for attendance policies).
